Darby D. Miller, MD Elected Florida Society of Ophthalmology Secretary-Treasurer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. – The Florida Society of Ophthalmology (FSO), the preeminent professional association for medical and osteopathic doctors who specialize in vision care, elected Darby D. Miller, MD as secretary-treasurer at its Annual Meeting, Masters in Ophthalmology 2015, held June 26-28 in Palm Beach, FL.

As FSO secretary-treasurer, Dr. Miller will help lead the nonprofit association, which represents more than 500 medical doctors focused on protecting the medical and surgical specialty of ophthalmology. In addition to active participation in legislative advocacy and the dissemination of responsible information to physicians and patients throughout the state, the FSO also provides continuing medical education.

Dr. Darby Miller is a cornea and cataract specialist and an assistant professor in the Department of Ophthalmology at the Mayo Clinic in Jacksonville. He received his MS degree at Georgetown University, followed by his MPH at Harvard University. He earned his medical degree at George Washington University before returning to Georgetown to complete his internship. Dr. Miller completed his ophthalmology residency at George Washington University Medical Center, followed by a cornea fellowship at the New York Eye and Ear Infirmary.

Dr. Miller is a member of many professional and community societies. He has been happily married for 10 years and has three energetic children.
